Vegetable IDO Update

7-JULY-2010

Careers in the Vegetable Industry

A new DVD and series of online video clips are set to encourage people to consider an exciting career in Australia's vibrant and diverse vegetable industry.

The DVD and video clips feature interviews with innovative and successful industry people.

Growers, their staff and others in the supply chain, talk about how to develop a dynamic career in the Australian Vegetable Industry.

These interviews highlight the diversity of occupations, the lifestyle and the rewards of working in the industry.

New technologies, sustainable growing techniques and the latest production practices provide great potential for the industry to grow and great opportunities for capable people.

Explore the opportunities for personal development, lifestyle and leadership that are on offer in the vegetable industry.

Short video clips are available online at www.bfvfg.com.au/careers to help you grow a career for yourself in the Australian vegetable industry.

The careers are listed in 4 categories :

- Strategic
- Investigative
- Production
- Operations

Victorian vegetable growers Peter Schreurs and Andrew Bulmer feature in the video.
